THURSDAY, January 29, 1903.

It is said that Jim Tillman's attorneys will not apply for bail for him. Possibly they are of the opinion that it would be refused.

It is highly probable that C. A. Woods, of Marion, will be elected Associate Justice by the General Assembly. He is said to be a fine man and well qualified for the position.

Governor Heyward, we salute you. You made a phenomenal race for governor, and you are going to make an admirable chief executive. Your inaugural address breathes the very sincerity of your purpose to serve South Carolina nobly and well.

That fellow who offered a bill in the Senate requiring the railroads to transport all State and county officers free must be a rare specimen of humanity. That such an one should be elected Senator is surprising. His measure was summarily disposed of, however.

While some foolish bills have been offered in the legislature, some important measures have been introduced, which the general assembly will do well to enact into laws. It is to be hoped our legislators will devise some means for the enforcement of the laws enacted as well as many of those now on the statute books.

Mr. T. Y. Williams, of Lancaster, who made the race for speaker, in the house of representatives, last Saturday made an attack on the State dispensary system. He said he had always favored the law, but he has reliable information that the State dispensary authorities are using the county dispensary officials as the means for distributing liquor for use in elections. Mr. Williams spoke in no uncertain terms of this matter, and we can now see why he was not elected speaker. He apparently is out of sympathy with the dominant element, and this no doubt accounts for his defeat. His charge, however, is a serious one, and should be investigated.

President Roosevelt is making a lot of trouble for somebody with his foolish ideas about social equality. A meeting was held in Washington this week under the auspices of the Afro-American Council, a negro organization, at which a negro named Hayes, a lawyer of Richmond, Va., made a most incendiary speech. The meeting is thought to be the direct result of Roosevelt's recent outbreaks on the negro question, and if the Southern negroes follow the advice given by Hayes there will be lots of serious trouble. He advised the negroes in the South to resort to the sword and the torch to right their wrongs, and made the significant statement that no two races speaking the same tongue and having the same religion had ever been kept apart. This will never become a reality in the South or anywhere else, and the sooner the negroes understand this fact the better off they will be. There is just as much showing in the South for honest, industrious negroes as anywhere under the sun, but social equality and mixing of the races is not to be thought of.

Legislative Doings.
A little interest was taken in the house of representatives last Saturday over a bill, introduced by Mr. McLean, to permit county dispensers to be elected by the people. Some spicy debate was had, but the bill was killed by a vote of 78 to 24.

A bill has been introduced amending the law regarding school rights. The law now prohibits fights within three miles of a school, and the bill provided that they should also be unlawful within three miles of a church. An amendment was added, making the fighting of the law wherever in the State, and the bill passed a second reading. It will likely become a law.

A bill has passed second reading in the house requiring that no person shall be elected county superintendent of education unless such person shall have a certificate of qualification to teach in the free public schools of the State.

Members of the legislature have been introduced, among the most important being a bill to provide additional penalty for carrying concealed weapons; to submit to the voters in 1904 the question of a tax on dogs; to prohibit the employment of other than freeholders as trustees of common schools; to extend the time for payment of taxes to March 1st, 1903.

The house has passed a bill providing that all convicts sentenced to a term of less than five years shall serve their time on the county chain gangs. The limit is now five years.

A bill to prevent the sale of dynamite for the purpose of killing fish has passed the house.

A bill has been offered in the house taking the dispensary profits from the counties and giving them to the public schools. It has not been finally acted on yet.

A bill has been introduced providing for a State exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition. About $30,000 is the amount asked to be appropriated for the exhibit.

Representative D. J. Delk introduced a bill to regulate the traffic in seed cotton. An unfavorable report has been made on the bill to extend the time for payment of taxes until March 1st. This means that the bill will likely be killed.

The formality of electing A. C. Lajner United States Senator was gone through with Tuesday. This was also the day for the election of an Associate Justice for the Supreme court. There were six candidates: C. A. Woods, of Marion; Robert Earlwood, of Marion; W. B. Gruber, of Colleton; Jas. T. Izlar, of Orangeburg; James L. Tribble, of Anderson; J. F. Caldwell, of Newberry. Three ballots were had, but no election took place, and by mutual agreement of the friends of the candidates the joint session adjourned until Wednesday. On the last ballot the vote stood: Woods, 71; Gruber, 14; Tribble, 17; Izlar, 6; Caldwell, 13; Aldrich, 23. Necessary to a choice, 78. It was seen from this that Mr. Woods lacked only seven votes of election. On the first ballot he received 64 votes, against 31 for the next highest man, Robert Aldrich.

Jay Gould had no use for a man who drags and this version has been inherited by all his children, especially Anna, Countess de Castellane. A rather bibulous inclined young man about town recently said to the Countess: "Would you call a man a drunkard who only gets drunk now and then?" "Would you call a man a thief who only picks pockets now and then?" was the quick reply.

News from Wofford College.

WOFFORD COLLEGE, SPARTANBURG, January 26.—The base ball club is hard at work practicing in the gymnasium. About thirty-five men are taking the exercise daily, a large percentage of whom are living with the hope of "making the varsity team." The determination shown by the candidates for the team means that each and every man who plays on Wofford's team this season will have to be "the real article." The prospects at present are better than they have been in a long time to year.

To-day the first stroke was struck by workmen who are clearing the place for our science hall. The work will go on rapidly from now until the day when "The Cleveland Science Hall" shall be declared finished.

The Wofford College Journal for January is out, and it is one worthy of the college it represents. Being full of stories, poetry, and the other things necessary for a good magazine, it is quite readable.

Mr. S. M. Dawkins delivered as his inaugural address, on becoming president of the Calhoun Society, a discourse on the past, present and future of the State.

Mr. Jim Albertogotti, of Orangeburg, has been on the campus for some time, and Mr. Albertogotti was a member of last year's sophomore class.

Our second term begins on next Monday, and many new students are expected to arrive to-day.

Mr. DeMotte will be here on Wednesday night, when he will deliver his famous lecture on "The Harp of the Senses."

Lawlessness at McCormick.

GREENWOOD, January 25.—News reached here to-day of what came near being a serious riot and bloody fight at McCormick, on the Charleston and Western Carolina Railroad. The affair sounds like the days of the fight in border towns about Literary Society, and some time during the day Saturday, a party of young men from the country, prominent among whom was Robt. Dorn, were disturbing the peace in the town of McCormick. Dorn was arrested and later released under a ten-dollar bond to appear before the intendancy of the town. Dorn went away and a few hours later returned with a party of friends, looking for trouble. These young men proceeded to molest and startle in McCormick without much prelude.

They shot into windows and disturbed the silence and serenity of the otherwise quiet little town not a little bit. A body of citizens assembled to meet the posse and started to arrest the disturbers.

When the two parties came in conflict George Talbert, a leader of the young men, drew his gun and started to plug the leader of the posse. This he did not do, but he did shoot at the posse. The leader of the posse at once fired and wounded Talbert in the arm. The sight of blood dismayed the disturbers and they dispersed. Talbert and young Robert Dorn were arrested, the others escaping. Young Talbert was brought through here to-day by two constables, who were carrying him to Abbeville to lodge him in the county jail.

They said they had been threatened by Dorn's friends and expected to be tempted to release Dorn. Dorn would have been made at Troy, but they were on the train and the attempt was not made. Dorn was roped and tied like a desperate criminal, although either he or his constables was a better man physically.

Col. Croft is Here.

Col. Croft, leading counsel for Jas. H. Tillman, is in the city, and it is supposed that he is here in reference to applying for bail for the prisoner. Whatever may be his intentions, he is keeping them to himself, and so are the other attorneys. One of them stated this morning that no general consultation had been held, and that it had not even been decided that any bill would be applied for. He did not mean to intimate, perhaps, that such a course would be pursued, though there has been a rumor current that such might be the case. But, as stated, the attorneys are doing no talking. Whenever the application is made, it will have to be made by the four day's notice. The application will have to be made to the judge presiding in the circuit, who happens this time to be Judge Klugh, or it may be made to the supreme court.—Columbia Record.

Two Men Bitten by a Mule.

EDGEFIELD, Jan. 25.—Mr. A. S. Rhoden and Mr. Marcellus Reynolds, citizens of Johnsons, were recently bitten by a mule, said to have had hydrophobia. These gentlemen immediately reported the case to the county health officer, who made an immediate application. As soon as the application was made the stone took immediate effect, which is generally accepted as full proof that the animal inflicting the wound was a victim of hydrophobia and not a mere victim of hysteria in the efficacy and curing qualities of the madstone, a number of them having tried it with satisfactory results. The mule that bit these gentlemen was brought here for treatment, and was supposed to be a genuine case of hydrophobia.

All Making Money.

"I have been spending a week down at my home in South Carolina," said Senator John L. McLaughlin, of that State, last evening at the Raleigh.

"I am glad to be able to report the general condition as very prosperous. South Carolina is chiefly an agricultural State and cotton is, of course, the great crop to-day, just as it was in the past. The cotton crop is the main source of production and with slave labor. But cotton is cultivated now under labor incomparably better than it was prior to the war. Besides, we have now what we would have been possible had the old regime lasted—the factories for working up the raw material.

"So at present we have a prosperous agricultural community and an industrial development that is wonderful and which is the result of the war. The possibilities of some kinds of people living indefinitely are so appalling to contemplate with calmness.

We agree with the Baltimore American that the doctor who claims to have discovered the way to cure leprosy should be looked after. The possibilities of some kinds of people living indefinitely are so appalling to contemplate with calmness.

In an indignant editorial a western newspaper recently remarked: "The lady (wife) yesterday evening called attention of another to our patched breeches, where at both laughed so heartily, is informed that a new pair will be purchased when her husband's bill is settled. It has been due nearly a year. The lady did not criticize a principle dress to her own credit, but she said she would send me with money due. Tell your husband to send me $40.78 and save the cost of a lawsuit. We need another pair of pants."—Printer's Ink.

Negro Riot in Reevesville.

REEVESVILLE, January 25.—The peace and quiet of our town was disturbed yesterday afternoon by a general negro riot. Some negroes from the country got drunk and came to Reevesville, and had a free fight, involving about a dozen or more negroes. Sheriff S. C. Varnedoe, of George's, was telegraphed for, and he, with a posse, came in on the 1 o'clock train, and was joined by J. P. Brothers and W. F. Berry, of our town, and the negroes were followed to their homes last night, and twelve of the leaders were arrested and put in Dorchester jail. Sheriff Varnedoe is a man of proved courage and ability and his posse of young men, who volunteered their services, are equally commendable. Reevesville was not incorporated, and gives the people no police protection.

Convicted by His Own Act.
A provincial mayor tells a good story at his own expense. It seems that when in office he would sometimes return home late at night, after his wife had retired and when she would ask him what time it was, would answer, "About 12," or "A little after midnight."

On one occasion, after making the inquiry, she said:
"Alfred, I wish you would stop that clock; I cannot sleep by its noise."

All unresponsive, he stopped the pendulum. In the morning while dressing, his wife inquired artlessly:
"Oh, by the way, what time did you get home?"

"About midnight," replied the mayor.
"Alfred look at that clock!"
The hands of the clock pointed at 2.30. The mayor was crushed.

Fits the Description.

"Gentlemen!" shouts the impassioned orator at the convention, "I take pride in presenting for the nomination the peerless son of Pike county, the man of despatches, the fearless leader, the Hon. Silas Trimmer, better known, perhaps, to man, woman and child in our fair State, as 'the man on horseback.'"

There was considerable cheering when the speaker sat down. The small man climbed on one of the rear seats and as soon as quiet was restored, shouted:
"You bet he's known as 'the man on horseback'! He's the worst straddler that's ever been in politics in this State."

After that it was easy money for the dark horse.

Senator McLaughlin has sold his home in Bennettsville and it is thought he will move to the university, probably to Greenville.

Secretary of State J. T. Gantt has appointed J. Thos. Austin, of Greenville, his chief clerk. Mr. Austin was a candidate for secretary of state in the primary.

On Saturday Comptroller-General Jones turned over to the various counties $300,000 of the State Treasury. The total fund of 1902, making a total of $142,755.91 paid during the year.

The latest Washington sensation is the "ring, streaked and striped" reception given at the white house. All the negro officials were invited to attend and the president looked forward to a grand "social equality love feast" but the white people kicked. A number of white people left the white house in high dudgeon and those who remained snubbed the negroes and refused to snub the president.

Constabulary Jobs.

Applications for appointments still came in upon Governor Heyward. To-day he received 25 applications for constabulary positions, adding that many to a total unknown, as nobody has had time to count them yet. Besides there were several hundred applications for other positions in the county governments which are appointive, but which are usually left to the recommendation of delegations.—Columbia Record.

An Optimist.

"Did the weevils get in your cotton?"
"Yep, but I ain't a kickin'!"
"Raise any tobacco?"
"Nope, worms eat it; but I ain't a kickin'!"
"Suppose you raised plenty of sweet potatoes?"
"Nope, didn't pan out; but I ain't a kickin'!"
"How is your son, Bill, getting on?"
"Fairly well; Bill had both legs cut off on the railroad!"
"Why that's awful! You have had hard luck!"
"Oh, I dunno. The railroad gin men a thousand dollars, and the oil man came eloped with an insurance man's money. Corpus Christi way! I ain't a kickin' none. Looks some like rain don't it?"

When you wake up with a bad case in your mouth, go at once to Bamberg Pharmacy and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. One or two doses will make you well. They cure biliousness, sick headache, constipation and all other ailments.

Good Service.

Many good stories have from time to time been told of the Rev. Thomas Hunt, the temperance orator, who was a well-known figure in the early history of the Wyoming Valley.

During the Civil War he enlisted, and served as chaplain in one of the regiments of infantry raised in the valley. One day in the midst of a fierce battle a major rode up in front of the regiment, and to his amazement found Father Hunt at the head of the ranks.

Wealth in Old Vermont.

People in the Government service and in the cities generally have no conception of the value of money as fixed by those who live far away from the metropolis. There the money, figuratively, has to be "dug for," and there is a corresponding difference in the way they size up a man's exchequer.

Up along the White River valley, in Vermont, half way between the towns of Bethel and Randolph, at a bend in the road, is a watering trough almost hidden in the shadows of the trees which form a natural arch for the highway. A Washington newspaper man was driving along there one day and he tells this story of his experience.

"Just as I pulled up my horse at the watering trough, a farmer came along and stopped. 'Morning,' stranger," he said; "how be ye?"
"I be pretty well, I answered in the same vernacular.
"You're quainted round here?"
"Some," I answered. "I know about half the people in each of the towns."

"Well, maybe as how you know Jim Jones's folks?"
"Yes, I know 'em."

"Know 'em Slack?" he persisted.
"Yes."
"Ever know Si Rogers?"
"Yes."

"Just his daughter Sue?"
"Never met her, but I know she's a wealthy man. Worth much 's hundred dollars."

"Sho! Wal. Sue's married now?" (I observed that that was a very happy circumstance.)
"Yes," continued, "Sue's married now. Married a wealthy man, a rich man. Worth much 's hundred dollars."

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Pergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much.

Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the result he gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Bamberg Pharmacy.

He Sought Legal Advice.

Astor is a lawyer who lives in Englewood, says the Chicago Tribune. He was walking from his house to the suburban train, when the butcher on the corner opposite the station, called to him. Astor had bought his meat from that butcher for twenty years.

"Mr. Astor," asked the butcher, "what can I do if a dog runs into the shop and carries off a roast of beef worth $2?"
"Do you know whose dog it is?" asked the lawyer.

"Oh, yes," the butcher answered. "I know who owns the dog all right."
"Then all you've got to do is to send the owner a bill for the stolen meat. You can collect it without any doubt."

"The Mr. Astor started to hurry for his train.

"Mr. Astor," the butcher called after him—"Mr. Astor, that was your dog. I'll send you the bill this afternoon."

With a gasp he turned and looked at Mr. Astor's office. But the butcher had unfortunately forgotten that his victim was a lawyer.

By the next mail he got his answer. With it came a bill for $10 for legal advice. In the matter of a "theft" dog," leaving a balance of $3 due Mr. Astor. And now the butcher is wondering what he had better do about it.

Why Fanny Wept.

A young Texas lady of a violent temper, just about to be married, was found weeping by a friend. "Why do you weep, Fanny? Your future husband is one of the best kind hearted men in the world," said the friend. "I know it; but I can't help feeling sorry for the poor devil. I have such a tender heart that it makes me cry to think how I'll boss him around. The poor man has no idea what he is getting into. I suffer at my hands." And once more the kind hearted woman's eyes were filled with brine.

Caught in the Act.
A woman suspected that her husband was in the habit of kissing the servant girl and resolved to detect him in the act. On Saturday night she saw him pass quietly into the kitchen. The servant girl was out and the kitchen was dark. The jealous wife took a few matches in her hand and, hastily placing a shawl over her head, as the girl often did, entered the kitchen. The servant girl was seized and kissed and embraced in an ardent manner. With heart almost bursting with the faithful spouse, and, tearing herself away from his fond embrace, she struck a match and stood face to face with—the gardener.

A Woman's Wealth.

Paine's Celery Compound

GIVES VIGOR AND STRENGTH TO DEBILITATED AND RUN DOWN WOMEN.

It is maintained by many distinguished writers that the greatness of a nation depends much upon the physical condition of its women. The general conditions which contribute to health and long life, are those which do not imply a rapid and unequal exhaustion of those powers by which life is maintained. While we assert that the women of our land stand peerless for beauty and the virtues that make them lovable, we cannot hide the fact that there are thousands in our midst who, owing to overwork, worry, household cares, and an unequal exhaustion of life power, have become weak, nervous, sleepless, and debilitated.

We bring to the attention of all weary, despairing, hopeless, and sickly women, Paine's great restorer and health builder, Paine's Celery Compound. Thousands of healthy women around us owe their present vigor, activity, and robustness to Paine's Celery Compound. Mrs. Stephen Smith, St. Paul, Minn., tells how she was snatched from the grave: she says:—
"I had a bad attack of the gripe this spring and was at death's door, and no one ever expected me to recover. I was so weak that I could not get out of bed. I was in bed for two months. I could not take any nourishment, and doctors' medicines did me no good. A friend advised my husband to get me a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, which he did. I had no faith in it. The second day after taking the Compound, I began to get real hungry and took an interest in things. I had everything that money and love could supply, and with that and Paine's Celery Compound, I am now doing my own work, while three months ago I was almost in the grave. I know that I owe my health and strength to Paine's Celery Compound, and shall always recommend it."
